

FOCUSING ON LONG-TERM SUCCESS

A commitment to our partners

As healthcare systems face continuous perioperative challenges, many hospitals, hospital groups, outpatient surgery centers, and academic clinics entrust us to manage their anesthesia programs. We don't take this responsibility lightly and work diligently to make the most appropriate impact quickly. However, partnering with us also means we look at the long-term. With that in mind, you can be assured that the decisions we make will benefit both your immediate and big-picture goals.

GET IN TOUCH

INDUSTRY PERSPECTIVES

Staffing shortage report from Definitive Healthcare

Recently, a report was published by healthcare commercial intelligence organization Definitive Healthcare, exploring why the industry is losing so many workers and its impact. Among the findings, it is estimated that 333,942 healthcare providers left their positions in 2021, with anesthesiology being one of the specialties that experienced a significant decline.

READ MORE

SPOTLIGHT ARTICLE

Opioid-free anesthesia offers patients a safe alternative

In a recent article, CRNA Katy Dean explores how certified registered nurse anesthetists are leading the way on opioid-free anesthesia. In her column, she explains why this option not only reduces the chance of opioid addiction but can also lead to better perioperative outcomes and improved patient recovery.

READ MORE

Read our latest blogs

Private equity firm vs. privately owned anesthesia partners

Today, many anesthesia management partners are backed by private equity firms with multiple investor groups. Others are privately owned by healthcare companies dedicated to the long-term needs of their clients. How do you know which type of partner is the right fit?

READ MORE

Damar Hamlin injury stresses the importance of airway physicians on the field

When Buffalo Bills' player Damar Hamlin collapsed, the on-field emergency physicians were there in a second. As the NFL understands that professional sports are risky and can result in serious injuries for players, they make sure that airway management physicians are on-hand for each game.

READ MORE

New opportunities in anesthesia

Premier Anesthesia is always looking for dedicated and talented anesthesiologists and CRNAs. Check out some of our most recent job listings. If you would like to explore more opportunities, click here.

Locum CRNA

MARIETTA, GA

Premier Anesthesia has carefully and intentionally developed hospital-based anesthesia practices for twenty years. As a privately-owned company, we have been able to grow carefully and strategically by focusing on executing each implementation with attention to detail that make transitions as least disruptive as possible. We have a new CRNA opportunity with Wellstar. Join this world-class academic health system as a locum CRNA.

READ MORE

Permanent Anesthesiologist

MARIETTA, GA

New anesthesiologist opportunity near Atlanta with Wellstar. This is an excellent opportunity to work for a nationally ranked healthcare system that is also locally recognized for having high-quality care, inclusive culture, exceptional doctors, and caregivers, and is one of the largest and most integrated healthcare systems in Georgia. Anesthesia services span the breadth of specialties and offer opportunities for general and specialty anesthesia.

READ MORE

Important dates for anesthesia

The world of healthcare never stops. Below are some notable dates and upcoming holidays to add to your calendar that involve the anesthesia industry.

- February – American Heart Month
- February – National Cancer Prevention Month
- February 1st – February 7th – National Patient Recognition Week
- February 4th – World Cancer Day
- February 14th – National Donor Day
- February 17th – National Caregivers Day
- February 28th – Rare Disease Day
- March – Brain Injury Awareness Month
- March – Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month
- March 2nd – National Hospitalist Day
- March 16th – National Close the Gap Day
- March 17th – Doctor-Patient Trust Day
- March 25th – National Physicians Week
- March 30th – Doctors' Day

Our mailing address is:

Premier Anesthesia
2655 Northwinds Parkway
Alpharetta, GA 30009